FOREWORD

It gives me pleasure to publish Mr. Sibadas Chaudhuri's Bibliography of Studies in Indian Epigraphy (1926-50) as No 6 of the M S University Oriental Series. The work was first printed in instalments in the Journal of the Oriental Institute. It is also brought out in book-form for the convenience of scholars and research workers. I trust that it will be a welcome addition to the reference works on Indian Epigraphy.

B J SANDESBARA
Director

PREFACE

The bibliography presented in the following pages covers the writings on Indian epigraphy of the years 1926-1950. It includes all the items which reached me or were brought to my notice upto the time of sending the matter to the press. The index has been arranged by author, (all of which have been numbered serially), a relative index is also provided. (The numbers given after each entry refer to the Bibliography.) The idea for inclusion of a geographical-chronological donor-dones index has been dropped to avoid further delay in the publication of the bibliography which has already been long delayed for various reasons.

It is regretted that despite all efforts, there are errors of omission and commissions. These deficiencies will be repaired, as far as possible, in the next edition of the book. In spite of these deficiencies if the bibliography is of some use to the scholars and the general readers, the labour of the compiler who had to do this piece of work among his multifarious duties, will be amply rewarded.

Thanks are due to all who have shown keen interest and given encouragement while the work was in progress (es. to Professors Jitendranath Banerjee and Dineschandra Sircar), to Sumati Kundaiah, B. A., who assisted me in the compilation of the relative index, and to all others (in Baroda and Calcutta) who helped me in the production of the work.

The compiler also acknowledges a debt of gratitude to Professor G. H. Bhatt (he was editor of the Journal of the Oriental Institute when the bibliography was accepted for publication) whose lamented death occurred recently. Thanks are also due to the present editor of the Journal, Professor B. J. Sandesara, and to Sri B. S. Kesavan (Director, Indoc, New Delhi).

SIBADAS CHAUDHURI
Librarian, The Asiatic Society.
